Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Tomorrow is election day for Nevada City. Three seats on the city council are to be filled and there are seven candidates from whom to choose. The city is facing a critical period. From present indications WPA projects are being abandoned leaving the city to hold the sack. It is possible that some of the uncompleted projects will have to be completed by use of tax funds. This does not mean an increase in rates, for the state law prohibits more than a 5-cent increase in rates, but may mean economics along some lines in order that un-completed projects may be finished. As a matter of fact the city council will be able to reduce taxes by 16 cents with the retirement of water bonds this year. This reduction is absolute because the water bonds were paid off by a special tax, and to continue the old rate after retiring the water bonds would be illegal.

These conditions call for sound business ability in the city's service. Crude promises of reducing taxes and water rates mean nothing. The tax rate will be reduced by 16 cents by retirement of the water bonds, and for the reason that city council must have funds with which to function, money to run the municipal government with, there will be, and should be, no change in water rates. The municipally owned water system pays the city a profit. Without that profit taxes would inevitably have to be increased 5 cents each year until the loss in water rates was offset by increased rates.

There are two matters which are at issue. One is a later closing hour for liquor establishments. The present ordinance requires closing at 12 o'clock midnight. Some of the candidates are promising that if elected they will extend the closing hour to 2 o'clock in the morning. Again we reiterate that this is against sound public policy and good business principles. The later closing would attract into the city a noisy and undesirable element whose expenditures for liquor will be reflected in unpaid clothing and grocery bills. Most retail liquor dealers in Nevada City are well satisfied with the present midnight closing hour. It is only a few of the disreputable joints that seek the later closing time. It would be poor business on the part of the city council to change the present ordinance.

The second issue, which has not been brought into the open, is the movement to permit installation of slot machines in liquor and other establishments. Slot machines in use anywhere in California are a violation of the law. The only chance they have to enter the picture is by connivance of peace officers, and acquiesence of the constituted authorities. It is possible of course to elect city officials who will wink at law violation in this respect, but it is not very probable in Nevada City if the decent tax paying voters will go to the polls tomorrow and vote for the men that they know they can trust with the city's business affairs. Aside from any moral aspects of the matter, money lost in slot machines is irrepairably lost to the city and county. The bulk of it goes to the "slot machine kings" in San Francisco and oLs Angeles.

This is a last minute appeal to all voters to go to the polls tomorrow and see to it that the cross is placed opposite the names of men who have been active and public spirited in building up Nevada City, men who have had business experience and cannot be swerved by small selfish groups from doing their duty by all the people of this community.

DRIVES OVER FIRE HOSE IS FINED $25

Racing out Sacramento street early Sunday morning while a fire was in progress at a cabin near Nevada City's outskirts, Magnus Knudsen, of Hotel Golden, Grass Valley, ran over a fire hose while the firemen were busy with the blaze. Chief of Police Robson placed the man under arrest and in jail for the rest of the night. Today he appeared before Judge Walter Mobley, Justice of the Peace, pleaded guilty to violating a city ordinance, and was fined $25, which he promptly paid.

HYDRAULIC MINE MEN MEET HERE

At a well attended meeting of gravel mine operators at the National Hotel Saturday afternoon definite steps were taken to secure data regarding costs and methods of securing water for hydraulicking the vast gravel deposits in this section of the Sierra watershed.

It was decided to seek from the P. G. & E. company, and a company operating from Georgetown, exact facts as to their ability to supply water and at what points and the cost.

Also, it was voted to ask Congressman Englebright for more specific information as to the status of the money allocations and the requirements of the War Department and the California Debris Commission. Continued uncertainty on these points was held responsible for much of the skepticism found among the smaller gravel owners.

Report of pit committeemen indicated that the yardage total stood tentatively a 550,000,000 yards, divided as to watersheds as follows: Yubas 337,000,000 yards; Bear, 109,000,000 yards, Middle Fork American, 57,000,000 yards, North Fork American, 47,00,000 yards.

The erection of debris dams will mean much to this section of California. Ghost towns will come to life, thousands of miners will go back to work and business of every description will flourish. Mining industries will develop and as in the days of old the eyes of the whole world will again be centered on northern California.

The next meeting of the Hydraulic Miner's Association will be held in Marysville. The mayor, and the president of the Marysville Chamber of Commerce, and the Merchant's Association of Marysville sent this association a personal invitation to hold the next meeting in their city. They also stated that the Lion's club of Marysville is one hundred per cent for the projects of the hydraulic association and will do all in their power to boost the mud-miner's proposition along.

At one time Marysville had a good reason to register a kick at the hydraulic activities up in the foothills. In the old days the debris went down the rivers and made worlds of trouble for the farmers and lowland business houses. But with the reasonable assurance that debris dams will be erected and the debris cared for in a systematic manner all the old antagonistic spirit is gone and Marysville is ready to demonstrate that the old time conditions are so changed that there is no comparison.

A favorable report was made on the incorporating projects, indicating that the association would soon be the California Hydraulic Mining Association, Inc., a non-profit concern. The cost both of drafting the papers and the filing fee are to be donated it was stated.

The meeting was presided over by J. P. Hall of Auburn, president of the association. In attendance also were William Esterly, the secretary and Guy Luckins, treasurer.

GRIM REAPER CALLS MRS. SALINA GREEN

The many friends of Mrs. Salina Green of Indian Flat were shocked to hear of her sudden passing Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock. It is stated she complained of not feeling well upon arising and her son told her to lie down to rest. After a time she was called and it was found she had passed away. From an autopsy performed at the request of the coroner, Mrs. Green had come to her death as the result of lobar pneumonia.

She was born in Gold Hill, Nevada May 27, 1876 and was 59 years, 10 months and 15 days old at time of her demise. She came to Nevada county 28 years ago.

Left to mourn her passing are her husbband, Willis Green, Sr., a daughter, Miss Helen Green, a son, Willis Green, Jr., grandson, Willis Green, 3rd; granddaughter, Elizabeth Lois Green, sister, Mrs. Fanny Eden, all of Indian Flat. Several nieces and nephews also survive, among them being Mrs. Ida Magonigal of Nevada City.

Services will be held in the Little Church Funeral Home at Nevada City at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with L. R. Jefford and Son in charge of arrangements. Christian Science services will be conducted by Mrs. Ida Magonigal of this city. Mrs. Charles Elliott will sing a hymn.

FIVE CHILDREN ARE BAPTIZED

Trinity Episcopal church was filled to capacity for the 11 o'clock service and enjoyed a splendid Easter sermon by Rev. Charles Washburn.

After the close of the Easter service five children were baptized in a beautiful and impressive manner by the Rev. Washburn. The children are, Erik Pavilla Andersen, Marilyn Andrea Andersen, Anita Valkyr Andersen, and Geneva Kristine Andersen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Andersen of this city. Their proxy sponsors were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Goodale of Los Angeles; while the other child was Edward Thomas Bolton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bolton of Nevada City, and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sinnock of Colfax.

The church was decorated with banks of bouquets of beautiful calla lilies sent by members as a memorial to those who have passed on.

Miss Elma Hecker, superintendent of the Sunday school, reported her classes had increased from about 50 to 96 for the forenoon service.

POURING CEMENT SOON TO START ON SCHOOL BLDG.

Rapid progress is being made today in excavating the space for the heating plant at the new grammar school building which will be cleared tomorrow. Practically all the earth has been moved from the west side of the lot for the basement under the large assembly room. Pouring concrete for the foundations will start shortly.

The contract calls for completion by August 22. Mr. Rollin E. Meyer is general contractor; Martin J. Reeves, the plumbing, heating and ventilating contractor, and the United Electric Company the electric contract. Mooser and Lindley are the architects.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davidson came down from Moores Flat Friday. They were snowed in during the last storm and cleared the road in order to come out. Snow is still four feet deep in drifts but it is melting rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foreman of this city had as week end guests Mr. Foreman's brother, Sydney Foreman and Mrs. Foreman and grandchild, Jackie Perkins, of Oakland.

SOUND GREAT HEWGAG CLAMPER GOAT IS LOST!

The time draws near for the sounding of the Hewgag. Yet the Clamper Goat which is so necessary for all Clamper initiations is still missing.

Grand Noble Humbug Earl Crabbe has given orders to Camp Petrix, Wendell Robie, keeper of the goat to have the goat on hand for the opening of the Clamper activities.

Clamp Petrix Robie is also chairman of the nominating committee and the meeting of that committee will determine the starting time of the 1936 activities.

The Clamper Goat had a spread of horns, which measured 40 inches. He disappeared from his pen at the Auburn Lumber Company shortly after the close of the 1935 Gold Rush Revival. Robie also has on file other information concerning the goat which will be given to those who wish to aid in the search.

All Clampers, Good and Loyal are given orders to prepare a list of candidates for presentation at the first meeting.

Application blanks can be obtained from the Grand Nobel Recorder.

BIG THRONG AT SUNRISE SERVICE

The third Sunrise Easter Service on the Nevada City airport brought over 300 persons to witness the sunrise and hear the beautiful Easter service prepared by Rev. C. Washburn, Rev. H. H. Buckner and Mrs. Katherine Celio. The first song began just as the sun rose over the high peaks .

The view over the city and surrounding country was awe-inspiring. Last year Rev. Washburn conducted the service and this year Rev. Buckner gave the sermon and Rev. Washburn the prayer.

Mrs. Katherine Celio wishes to thank all who assisted in the service.

Home Makers Work Goes Beyond Kitchen Says Jane Barton

"It takes more than a good cook to be a successful housewife," states Jane Barton in announcing her program for the Homecraft Institute and Cooking School on the afternoon of April 22, 23 and 24. "Modern methods have made it possible for a woman to master the rites of the kitchen in a fraction of the time and with much less effort than was needed by her mother or her grandmother." That, Mrs. Barton believes, should leave their minds free to grapple with the other problems of the home. And, this popular economist believes, hundreds of thousands of women are doing that today. Attractive surroundings in the living room, a properly painted house, solid foundations, modern, sanitary plumbing, an economical and efficient domestic water supply—in prevailing on the men folks to add these things to the home equipment, women have forged ahead in making America a land of beautiful as well as efficient homes.

So Jane Barton's Homecraft Institute under the auspices of the Nevada City Nugget and the Pacific Rural Press has expanded its program to bring home makers the latest and most reliable information about these new problems which the housewives are grappling with today.

In broadening her program to include these things Jane Barton hasn't lost sight of the fact that the kitchen is important too. She is bringing a program that is brimming over with exciting and different recipes and suggestions and yet she never allows her cooking to become elaborate, expensive or wasteful. She points out that by proper economy in the kitchen many of these improvements can be added to homes without adding a single dollar to the budget. Efficient operation can make the savings that will pay for the new equipment. If you would like to make your home a better place to live in —if you would like to make housekeeping easier—if you would like to see your family pop-eyed with admiration and delight when they sit down to a meal, put a great big mark in your date book today for the afternoons of April 22, 23 and 24 and join your neighbors at Jane Barton's Homecraft Institute in the Nevada Theatre.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR SCOUT LEADERS

Over 80 letters have been sent to as many men and sponsoring organizations in Grass Valley appraising them that training courses will start Friday, April 17 at the Elks Hall at 7:30 p. m. These informational meetings are designed to acquaint men with the fundamentals of the scout program and give the adult point of view and will continue one night a week for six weeks.

The meetings are designed like and organized on the basis of a troop and its patrols and will be conducted by experienced scouters. Each of the present sponsoring organizations has been asked to recruit a patrol of men so they may be better fitted to present scouting to their boys.

Others who have expressed or shown their interest in scouting in the recent "Crusade for More and Better Scouting" will be contacted personally, but these meetings are open to anyone.

MINER OUT OF WORK SUICIDES

A faithful fox terrier, barking shrill defiance, guarded the body of his master, Thomas West found dead yesterday.

The body of Thomas West, born in Charlestown, England, aged about 50 years, who was last seen a week ago Friday, was found by Mr. Stephen Rule, in a ravine about 100 yards from the Rule home shortly after 12 o'clock noon, Sunday. A .38 caliber revolver was by his side and it was assumed he had committed suicide while enroute to rustle for work at one of the mines.

West had worked in the Grass Valley mines for the last 20 years as a miner. For several months he had been out of work and was quite despondent over failure to obtain employment, which with ill health, it is believed was the motive for the suicide. Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, who was called with Coroner L. R. Jefford, stated that upon investigation the man had some money in the bank.

He leaves an aged mother and sister in England. Close personal friends in Grass Valley are making funeral arrangements which will be held from the L. R. Jefford and Son Funeral home at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon. Rev. Charles Washburn will conduct the services. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Coroner Jefford stated there would be no inquest as he was completely satisfied that his brooding condition for several weeks past and the recent purchase of a revolver, indicate a clear case of suicide. All marks of identifiation had also been removed from his clothes indicating he intended to do away with himself.

AGED MAN DIES IN CABIN FIRE

The Nevada City Fire department responded to a call Saturday night shortly after midnight which was turned in from near the old Hieronimous Brewery, on the lower Grass Valley road at Nevada City's southern limits, where a fire was raging in a two room cabin in which Dave McNally, the owner, lost his life.

It is thought a lamp or over heated stove exploded and the man evidently was asleep and aroused from his slumber by the blaze he was over come by smoke as he sought to escape and fell backwards into the building his feet touching the door.

Deputy Sheriff Carl T. Larsen, who was summoned, was told McNally was in the building and as soon as he could get near the building, with the assistance of firemen, he pulled the boards from the side of the building near the bed but did not find him. They shoved the door in and found the body badly burned.

The aged man, who was between 70 and 80 years of age, had lived in Nevada City about a year according to Mr. Larsen. He lived alone and very little is known of his past life. The coroner's office has charge of the body and is conducting an investigation.

Coroner L. R. Jefford stated an investigation disclosed that McNally came to his death as the result of being trapped in the burning building. He leaves no known relatives. Burial will be made in the county cemetery at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

You might compare the condition of California's state treasury today with that of a convalescent just beginning to get over a bad case of shattered nerves.

As recovery swings along at an accelerated pace, revenues from existing taxes are pulling in more bountiful sums. The relief load grows lighter.

Officials predict that "with uniform expenditures and without new revenues" the budget ought to be balanced within three years, provided the present tax structure is not disturbed.

In other words, doctors say the patient will be fully recovered in three years, if he is permitted complete rest and relaxation.

That "if" today looms as large as an oversized dinosaur, what with all the visionary, free style schemes afloat for revolutionizing the tax structure.

Of course we could adopt one of them. But it would be eqivalent to taking a brass band into the convalescing patient's hospital room in the naive belief that a little noise might cheer him up.

Naturally your patient's delicate nerve structure would suffer complete collapse. Just as naturally, if we try any far fetched schemes, any radical change in taxes, the state treasury just now showing signs of returning health will plunge back into a condition of financial chaos.

If ever there was, in the history of California, a time not to try any large scale experiments in taxation, that time is now. Sensible people just don't blow brass horns and beat loud drums in the ears of a patient recovering from a nervous breakdown.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel — distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.

CCC CAMPS NOW ENTER 4TH YEAR

(By V. J. WILSON)

April 1 marked the beginning of the fourth year of activity of the Civilian Conservation Corps. Three years ago the first contingents of CCC youths arrived for work on the Tahoe National Forest.

Few of these boys had any idea of the kind of work expected of them. A large per cent were entirely unfamiliar with the tools with which they had to work. Under the leadership of local experienced men, fourteen hundred of these awkward youths picked up their axes and saws, grubhoes and shovels and went to work here on the Tahoe National Forest.

These men were located in seven different camps scattered through the Forest. Camp F-208 Grass Valley was one of these first camps.

During the past three years the men of this camp have been working on all sorts of projects of local benefit, such as telephone line construction, road and fire break construction, developing springs for use of range stock, construction of free public camp grounds, and construction and maintenane of administrative buildings for the local Forest officers.

Protection of the natural resources so essential to the local needs is the basic factor in forest development. Timber, for our mines, water for power and irrigation, recreational spots unmarred by fire the values of all these resources are enhanced by every mile of telephone construction, every mile of truck trail, every mile of fire break, and every hour put in on maintenance of dwellings, roads, and telephone line. The work done by the Grass Valley camp has been not only of benefit to the people in the immediate vicinity, but its influence is felt miles away in Sacramento Valley.

Camp Grass Valley has constructed some forty miles of metallic telephone line. This covers lines out of the Tahoe National Forest headquarters office in Nevada City to Bloomfield, Washington, Banner Mountain, Camptonville, Downieville, and a line from Wolfe Mt. to Mt. Howell near Colfax. The metallic system constructed by the CCC, under the direct supervision of the United States Forest Service, insures a clear and distinct conversation. Such a conversation is of prior importance when the fire lookout is reporting a fire to the forest headquarters office, because it is the information given in his report which enables the dispatcher to send the correct number of men and pieces of equipment to the fire line.

The truck trail construction is confined to the so-called brush area and the main object in its construction is to make it possible for the forest service to move men and equipment into this area without delay, These roads not only benefit the forest service, but in many cases are the only approach to a section of country that without these truck trails would be inaccessible.

The stock men uses the truck trail to move his cattle or sheep on and off his summer range, and again when making inspections of the range on which his stock is grazing. The sportsman and vacationing family also derive benefit from these roads.

The CCC boys of Camp Grass Valley have participated to some extent in the work on the Ponderosa Way fire break. This fire break extends for miles and is a barrier between the brush country and the timber. The fire break averages two hundred feet in width and is grubbed of all inflammable vegetation, brush and trees. The oaks are treated with chemicals. This treatment kills the stump and stops any future sprouting. A truck trail runs the full length of the Ponderosa Way, giving the fire fighter, a decided advantage in handling fires in this brush area, as it permits speed in moving men into the fire line, and the cleared area gives the fire fighters an advantageous point from which to work.

Ranger Station improvement, timber stand improvement, and building of lookout towers are also among the projects worked on by the CCC boys.

All projects, are undertaken for the limitless value they will render the people as a nation, not for this year or next year, but for innumerable years to come.

EPIC STORY OF DONNER PARTY TOLD IN POEM

BERKELEY, Apr. 13.—The theory of the Donner party, told in poetry with a real epic touch and based on material gleaned from many points along the long trail taken by the unfortunate Argonauts, has been published by Mrs. Julia Cooley Altrocchi, wife of Professor Rudolph Altrocchi, chairman of the department of Italians, University of California. The book bears the euphonious title, Snow Covered Wagons, and is a product of the Macmillan Company.

In order to gather her material, Mrs. Altrocchi visted the old homes of the Donner and Reed families near Springfield. Illinois, where she interviewed surviving relatives. Then she started along the old trail, stopping in turn at a number of points along the Platte River and at Fort Laramie and Fort Bridger, where the party either sought rest or replenished its supplies. Traces of the trail still remain, she said, and the deep ruts made by the heavy wagon wheels may still be seen in the open fields in places.

At Springfield, Mrs. Altrocchi was told of many letters that members of the party had written "back home" and of the interesting events that these letters described. In Nevada she visited the grave of John Snyder, a member of the party who was murdered en route, and spent some time at the spot in the Sierra where the shattered party, hopelessly trapped by the snows, went through its terrible travail with hunger and lingering death.

Despite hardships, the party had many lighter moments. There were dances, wistful courtships, and roaring songs all along the trail until death began to strike. All of these the author brings out in full relief.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Farley spent Saturday in Downieville. Mr. Farley board of equalization agent, spent some time on business pertaining to his office.

COMFORT AT LOW COST!

SUMMER

When Mark Twain said everybody talked about the weather but nobody did anything about it...he didn't know about PALCO BARK. By installing a shielding blanket of it between the ceiling joists in your attic, it will make your home a cool retreat on hot stuffy days of summer. If building new, also put it in the walls between the studding. It keeps interiors as much as 15% cooler in summer.

WINTER

It's mighty convenient to let the modern thermostat do all the furnace work. But automatic heating does cost more to operate. Offset the increased cost by insulating with PALCO BARK and enjoy economy as well as convenience. A shielding blanket of it in the ceiling of your present home will stop most of the heat loss. It's easy to install and you'll be surprised at its moderate cost. Let us give you an estimate.

Dr. B. W. Hummelt, chairman of the day at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club, discussed tuberculosis, its symptoms, its prevention and its cure. Dr. Hummelt is county chairman of the Anti-Tuberculosis association and is well informed concerning this national movement to eradicate the disease. He recounted the development of the microscope to a point where it was possible to discover the bacilli of the dread disease, the development of cultures and experimentation which pointed to the way to preventive measures. At the conclusion of his address the members evinced their interest by asking many questions. A number of Grass Valley Rotarians were present.

NINO MARTINI TENOR ATTAINS FAME BY HIGH F

SACRAMENTO, April 13. — If something which has disappeared from the world for nearly a hundred years suddenly returns again, a commotion is created. Consequently, when Bellini's "Il Puritani" was announced in Milan with the tenor part to be sung in the original key, which had last been done in 1835 by the great Rubini, a sensation started. Nino Martini, first lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera House who is to sing in Sacramento on Saturday evening, April 18 at the Memorial Auditorium, was chosen to sing this great role in Bellini's opera. The original score called for a voice running clear up to high F. No other tenor since Rubini in 1835 had since been able to get up that far. Nino packed the Opera House in Milan. In the most passionate and dramatic episode of the whole opera, Nino Martini's thrilling high F floated out. Enthusiasm of the audience burst into flame. Martini sang in 16 successive performances of "I Puritani" at Milan.

Youthful, attractive to the eye as well as to the ear, Martini doubtless has a long and brilliant career ahead, but from valid proofs in which he is not lacking, one may feel pretty sure that Nino Martini of today will also be the same Nino Martini of tomorrow.

Tickets for the Albert Spalding concert, which was cancelled, are good for Martini. Mr. Martini's appearance here is being sponsored by the McNeill Club of Sacramento. Seat sale is now open at Ye Music Shoppe, 1014 10th Street. Mail orders will receive prompt attention.

Miss Frances Pentoney of San Francisco came up for Easter and is spending this week as a guest of Miss Louise Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Martin of this city.
